

PEACE QUESTION RESTS WITH TURKS

Armistice Terms Before Assembly

EDITOR'S COLUMN

SET YOUR OWN HOME IN ORDER FIRST.

"First cast the beam out of thine own eye and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye."—Matt. 7-8vs.

We do not understand why M. O. Nelson, who does not live in Danville tries to reform Danville and overlook the county in which he lives and has his home. Why does he not try to CLEAN UP his OWN front yard before trying to make us clean up ours? Farmers openly haul their tobacco in the county in which Mr. Nelson lives, and he asks Danville to prevent them from entering the city. Why doesn't he start at the source which is mostly in Pittsylvania county, where Mr. Nelson's home is? If he would see to it that the State law is enforced in the county in which he lives, it would be impossible for any farmers to bring their tobacco to Danville on Sunday. Danville could plead with the farmers to bring their tobacco to our city on Sundays, but this would have no effect if Mr. Nelson would see to it that the law that he asks Danville to enforce were enforced in the County.

Everyone knows that many farmers on account of weather conditions, work their crops on Sundays and also cure their tobacco on Sundays. Why doesn't Mr. Nelson try to stop this? Danville DOES NOT permit the sale of gasoline on Sunday, except in case of necessity, yet within a radius of Mr. Nelson's home in the county, are many filling stations which openly sell gasoline and oil to all on Sunday. Mr. Nelson is a director of the local Street Car Co., which operates on Sunday the same as is done in all other cities. Why doesn't he make the Street Car Co. only haul passengers that are on a necessary mission? Does the Legislature mean for its State Laws to apply to certain localities and not to others, when not specifically stated? We do not believe it does. All citizens of Virginia are guaranteed equal privileges by the Constitution of the United States, and we don't believe that the people living in Pittsylvania County should be allowed any more privileges than those living in Danville.

OPENING DAY OF DANVILLE FAIR SUGGUMBS TO INJURIES

HE'S CANDIDATE

Auto Crash Proves Fatal

Mrs. William O. Turner, aged 18, and bride of three months, died at the General Hospital at three o'clock this morning from a fractured skull, the injury being sustained on Saturday night at about eight o'clock on the Chatham road when she was in an automobile accident which also injured her husband and Miss Annie Phelps, also a passenger.

Little hope was entertained for Mrs. Turner when the extent of her injuries became known. She had been flung violently forward against the car, and she had borne the brunt of the blow on the forehead immediately above the eyes, the fracture being extensive.

Mr. Turner's condition was so improved yesterday that he was able to be removed to his home on Claiborne street. His neck was injured in the collision.

The authorities moved towards action this morning when it became known that Mrs. Turner had succumbed to her hurts. At first it was thought that as the accident occurred in the town of the local authorities, City Constable R. M. Foster then began summoning a coroner's jury, it being determined to hold an inquest. The body will be viewed this afternoon at half-past two o'clock at the undertaking establishment of E. W. Townes, whereupon the jury will adjourn until some time tomorrow, by which time Police Detectives Campbell and Lewis will have secured the names of witnesses and all of those who were in the accident. The coroner said he could not state the actual hour of the inquest, this depending upon ability of some of the injured to appear and testify.

Ben Campbell, driver of the car, will be arrested as soon as he has been found, and will be served with a warrant, technically alleging murder, and he will be required to give bond.

According to the statement of Miss Annie Phelps, one of the occupants of the car Saturday night when the crash occurred, the "wreck" was "not due to carelessness as much as it was to the loss of a sense of direction due to the blinding ray of the headlights of a machine coming in the opposite direction. Miss Phelps said that they were near Bernard's shop when Campbell, in trying to leave plenty of room for the car coming towards him, left the macadam road, the two right-hand wheels plunging into soft mud on the side of the road. This caused Campbell to lose control of the machine which ran up a bank, hit a telephone pole, went past it and came back into the road, after demolishing the top of the machine.

Mrs. Turner was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Gray, of 1331 Claiborne street. She was a native of this city and about eighteen years of age, being married only three months ago. Besides her parents, she leaves her husband who is seriously ill from his own hurts and the loss of his young wife's death, also a sister, Miss Carrie Gray, and two brothers, Willie and Joe H. Gray, now in North Carolina.

The funeral arrangements had not been completed this afternoon.

Event Begins Despite Rain

Thousand People Hear Sunday On His Chatham Stay

More than a thousand people heard "Billy" Sunday in Chatham yesterday afternoon during the brief time that he stayed there. Business in the town stood still while people packed the Chatham Training School Assembly hall to hear him make a brief address to the townspeople. A collection was taken before the close, a good sum being netted. The revivalist went from here to Chatham by automobile and after appearing at Chatham returned to Lynchburg.

Three Are Held On Girl's Charge

(By the Associated Press.)
MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 10.—Dr. C. E. Chapman, Dr. H. D. Havard, S. H. Bailey, lawyer, and two other persons are held at police headquarters on a statutory charge following an alleged death confession of Mary Cavanaugh, twenty, of Winfield, La., in which she charged an illegal operation had been performed.

DR. BELL UNDER KNIFE

Dr. L. W. Bell, of Hinesville, a well-known doctor of the county and a brother of Chief of Police James R. Bell, underwent a serious operation yesterday at the General Hospital. His condition today was reported as being satisfactory under the circumstances.

WATCH YOUR CAR

Members of the police department eager to spare owners of automobiles of their theft have suggested unusual precautions by motorists this week. It frequently happens that fairs and carnivals are followed by gangsters who by small scrupulous men, stepping in and starting off in other people's machines for an undetermined trip sometimes permanently.

Don't leave your key in the switch even for a short absence from the parked car.

Lock your gears if you have a gear lock.

Lock your safety wheel.

City Council Meets Tonight

The monthly meeting of the city council will be held at eight o'clock tonight in the council chamber with the report of the finance committee relative to the one-man car the centre of public interest. The committee will make known its recommendation on the issue for the first time. It is understood that a number of people will be present in the council chamber tonight to express their views on the proposition.

The question is ripe as to whether the report will recommend that the street car company is asking for or whether it will be a negative report. The impression seems to be that the request of the company will be granted with perhaps one or two restrictions.

The council tonight probably will be acquainted with the satisfactory method of police bookkeeping, which has recently been started, and which is preventing a great help to the police department and at the same time giving a full record of the receipts and expenses of the department. It is learned that since the mayor started the cash system the police court receipts have taken a big jump, thus being $700 more than the total of fines and receipts levied during the previous month. The police secretary has prepared a comparative statement showing what the receipts have been for the first nine days of the department's operations under the new system of bookkeeping. City and State fines for that nine-day period totalled $735.48, while the fees collected for that period totalled $542.40. The fees collected under city and State fines were $180 and $150, respectively. The city auditor reports that the system is working out excellently and that it is a great improvement on the old system.

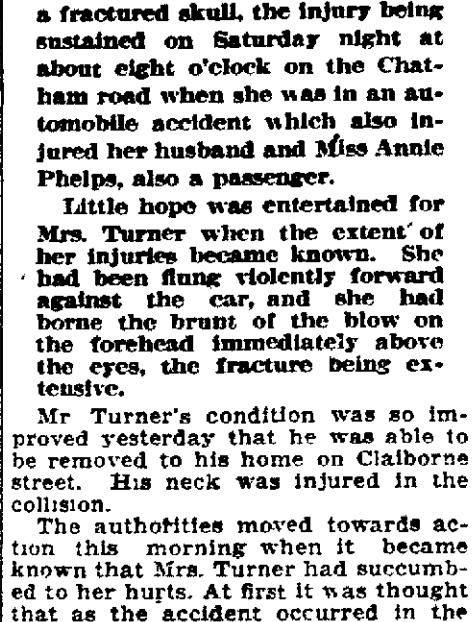

The question of Sunday observance may be brought up tonight there being, however, a divergence of opinion as to the propriety of asking the mayor for a broad interpretation of the law. Some think that this can be done and that the gate to Danville can be left ajar on Sunday to farmers.

With the Young Men's Business Club favoring a broad interpretation so as to allow such farmers as wish to do so entering the city the Ministerial Association has entered the list for a rigid adherence to the letter of the law. Members of the council are understood to have received by today's mail a copy of resolutions commending the municipal authorities for their stand taken in the matter and add:

"The Association stands for the consistent enforcement in this city of this and all other statutes of the Commonwealth."

"The Association takes this occasion to express its conviction that the laws for the prevention of business and labor on Sunday, except in works of necessity and mercy, which laws have been written into the statute books of almost all the states of the union, are most wise, humane, and needful laws, and all efforts to revoke or nullify these laws are contrary to the public welfare."

"The Association, in recording upon its minutes this statement of its attitude, also directs its secretary to respectfully submit copies of this action to the Mayor, and members of the City Council of the city of Danville, to the Judge of the Corporation Court, and the Chief of Police, and to the pastors of the several churches of the city, with the request that the pastors read the same from their pulpits, if they see fit."

"Pat" Jarrett Is Improving

The condition of Patrick H. Jarrett, nightwatchman at the Danville Lumber company who was gravely injured early Sunday when, while riding his horse he was struck by an automobile driven by H. H. Heard, was reported at Edmunds Hospital today as being far more encouraging. It is believed that he will recover. He passed a more restful night and he has recovered consciousness, and now recognizes his attending physicians. He sat up a little this morning. The first x-ray plates were not altogether satisfactory for when they were made Mr. Jarrett was delirious and it was difficult on account of his restlessness to get a good negative. Others will be taken today. Dr. T. W. Edmunds, who is attending him, has examined his eyes and finds that his condition is by no means hopeless. He expressed considerable encouragement this morning with the turn in his condition noted overnight.

Richmond Plant Razed By Fire

RICHMOND, Oct. 10.—Fire early this morning destroyed the plant of the Fibre Board Container company, manufacturers of fibre board shipping and packing cases. The loss was estimated by officials of the company at $100,000.

The three-story brick building was razed and large stocks were consumed by the flames. Five carloads of shipping cases ready for shipment went up in smoke. Prompt action by the fire department saved a number of frame buildings in the immediate vicinity of the plant.

With Appearance of Sun Late This Morning Successful Week Is Expected.

Faint gleams of sunshine and blue sky late this morning raised the hope that the extraordinary heavy rainfall of the past forty-eight hours would abate in time to give the Danville Fair a successful run. The fair opened this morning at ten o'clock although the task of putting the final touches had been delayed by the weather. This afternoon, barring further rain, it had been decided to go ahead with the regular opening day programme despite the moist condition of the grounds.

The Fair Association, which is insured against rain with a view to offsetting partially losses due to curtailed gate receipts, will collect a proportion of the amount for which it is insured. At the grounds began the task of making awards for the exceptionally fine exhibits in all of the buildings, these being considerably better than those on display a year ago. The agricultural building is unusually good and no patron to the fair should fail to see the remarkable displays which are on view there.

Parts of the ground were admittedly muddy this morning for heavy wagons had churned up the dirt and tractor wheels were wallowing in the mire. The fair officials now having cinders taken to the scene and are resorting to other artificial methods of making the midway passable.

The clouds early this morning were dark and heavy and with a frequent downfall of rain, it looked discouraging to the fair officials, but by 10:30 o'clock the elements seemed brighter and a few minutes before 11 o'clock the first ray of sunlight was to break through the broken clouds.

The grounds this morning presented a busy aspect—not by patrons but by exhibitors and employees of the Wolfe shows setting up their paraphernalia, and others connected with the fair. Some difficulty was experienced in handling the heavy wagons and trucks, tractors used to move them about the grounds over the mud.

Although the heavy rain of Sunday and yesterday had softened the grounds considerably, the growth of vegetation kept it from being muddy in many places. The spots that were muddy were being filled in with cinders this morning and it is thought that by tonight, should there be no rain, that the grounds will be in fairly good condition.

While there was no use to open the gates at the scheduled time, 10 o'clock, the fair was formally opened early this afternoon. The program for today consists of a band concert at 2:30 followed by an exhibition of free acts, five of them in all. Beginning tomorrow the Victor Concert band, consisting of twenty members, will give three concerts daily—10:30, 2:30, and 8 o'clock. The band being one of the best obtainable. The free acts, two performances of which will be given daily these to be at 2:30 and 8 o'clock, also have a reputation of being some of the best selections able to get. The Duttons, who put on one of the best acts, alone carry $20,000 worth of horses and paraphernalia. The other four acts consists of both loose and tight wire walking, acrobatic stunts and posing acts. Following the free acts at night, will be the fireworks, which are said to be the best and more of them than anytime before. The judges started making awards on exhibits by noon and they were busy at the task early this afternoon.

SECURITY LEAGUE TO OPPOSE MOVE TO CURB HIGH COURT

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The National Security League will wage a nationwide campaign against the movement to amend the Constitution of the United States so as to permit Congress to pass upon decisions of the Supreme Court, the executive committee of the league announced today.

"The most dangerous destructive doctrine that has been voiced in America since the birth of bohemism," said a statement from the executive committee, speaking of the movement, and outlining the plan to circulate candidates for Congress and were an active fight against all who declare themselves in favor of submitting the proposed amendment to the State Legislatures.

"The most powerful minority in the country today, which has a way of getting what it wants, even at the risk of the general interest of the citizens as a whole, and whose whispers rise as shouts in the ears of the average legislator," and the statement, "announce their determination to obtain amendment to the Constitution to permit Congress to override and nullify decisions of the Supreme Court. This is the most dangerous destructive doctrine that has been voiced in America since the birth of bohemism."

The league said it would convert our government overnight into a mobocracy under the leadership of the demagogues and destroy by one blow the inherent rights of all minorities against the possible tyranny of a temporary political majority.

"The National Security League intends to exert every effort in its power to prevent such an amendment from passing." The fact that the attack is by an organized body of hundreds of thousands of citizens makes it essential that a broad national campaign of opposition be started at once."

WHAT GOD SAYS

Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy.
Six days shalt thou labor, and do thy work.
But the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates:
For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it.—Adv.

Pigeon Flight From Danville For "Navy Day"

Danville will observe "Navy Day" on Friday October 27th in a novel way. The town has been designated by the Navy League and has as its aim the support of this branch of the national security and all of its allied institutions.

In order to make the day interesting the government plans to have a series of carrier pigeon races from all parts of the country.

Danville has been included in the program and several crates of pigeons will be sent here. There will be a race for each city school these birds to be released from Danville on Monday next at 10:45 each one carrying a message to the pigeon lofts in Washington. Simultaneously school children of Monticello, West Virginia, which is exactly the same distance as Danville from Washington will release an equal number of birds and the race will be between the pigeons from each town. The names of the winners will be announced on Navy Day, October 27th.

Hugh T. Williams has the arrangements in charge and as representative of the American Legion he or some other official of the Legion will designate pupils from each school to release the homing birds on their long flight to Washington. The time will be carefully noted.

Sees Oily Fingers In Near East Stew

British High Official Says Petroleum Promoters Are Keeping Alive War Scare—All After Valuable Lands.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—This Near Eastern question will result in an oil victory for some nation and then the losers will start another war, a high British official declared tonight.

This official, who saw oily footprints on the shores of the Dardanelles, stated that he believed the valuable oil lands in the Near East were responsible for the alarms, deadlocks and ultimatums in connection with the Near Eastern crisis.

The present conflict was described as an "oil war" by the official.

One answer, he said, to the question of the British press as to the meaning of the "freedom of the Straits" is that it is the "freedom of the passage of oil tankers, across the land and sea lines near the Black Sea, Caspian sea and in Persia and Mesopotamia."

The Evening Standard yesterday published a cartoon of Turkish and allied generals conferring at Mudania and surrounded by American, British, and Dutch oil men.

"It would take Uncle Sinclair to write an old 'Jungle' expose," declared the politician. "The tale would astonish the world." The sinister influence of oil operators is seen in the

Mystery Shower At Alexandria

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 9.—What appears to be steady rain, ranging from a slight drizzle to a fairly heavy shower, has been falling in a space about 10 feet square in front of the house at No. 417 South Washington street, Alexandria, since September 23. Every effort has been made to discover the reason for the seemingly freak rainfall. The weather bureau in Washington declares it a physical impossibility. A representative from the bureau of forestry, after an inspection, said the rain was not caused by the fall of sap from a nearby tree, as some have insisted. Hundreds from Washington and nearby points have flocked to see the freak.

In a garden adjacent to the spot where the rain is falling is putting out new leaves and buds as the apparent result of the showers.

Spinal Operation May Save High Diver

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 9.—As a result of an operation known as laminectomy, which they performed on him yesterday, surgeons at Memorial Hospital today held out strong hopes for the recovery of "Dare Devil" Charles Wilson, champion high diver, who suffered serious injury to his spine while performing a feat at the Virginia State Fair several days ago.

By cutting off a vertebral arch they succeeded in removing a blood clot from the spinal column near the first lumbar vertebra and thus relieved pressure on the spine. Almost instantly, it was said, Wilson began to regain use of his left leg which had been paralyzed since his mishap. Examination disclosed that none of the vertebral bones were fractured.

Wolfe Shows On Midway At Fair

The T. A. Wolfe shows which are to supply the amusement for the Danville Fair arrived Saturday evening direct from Winston-Salem. At sunrise this morning the multitude of caravan wagons were taken from the train and driven to the grounds, where they were taken in charge by the executive staff of the show and assigned to their places, and within an hour's time ten began to read their poles, skyward, the many riding devices began to take form, on their allotted spaces, and a mimic city which is to house this world of "make-believe," sprang into existence.

This season the T. A. Wolfe Shows are offering a more pretentious organization than ever before, carrying with them more rides, and more shows, than have ever been attempted by this organization and a visit to the Midway when thrown open to the public tomorrow will show that the most skeptical that there is something new under the sun.

Space does not permit of a detailed description of the many attractions to be found under the Wolfe banner. Suffice it to say, however, that they are fresh and novel many of them being of educational value while over all pervades the stamp of cleanliness for the Mr. Wolfe states "I cannot jeopardize the reputation my show holds in the amusement world to allow any attraction on my midway that would appear as objectionable to the patrons of the fair."

MUST NOT BE DELAY IN CLOSING BARS ON SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Chairman Lisker, took additional precautions to insure that there must not be any delay in closing the bars on shipping board vessels no matter where they may be.

Although the ban against the loading of liquor aboard is not to apply until October 14, the chairman reiterated in a telegram to Managing Operators of the board's vessels that the law already is down so far as the serving of drink is concerned.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2. and get the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, soothes the inflamed membrane, lifts the phlegm, breaks the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Many Graduates Of High School To Continue Studies

Of the sixty-odd academic department graduates of the Danville High School in the class of 1922, at least 31 have entered higher educational institutions to improve their equipment for the competitions of life. In an unusually large graduating class practically 50 per cent have promptly carried into effect their desire to drink deeper of the "Pierian spring."

The movement to add further to their scholarship is regarded as indicative of a purpose to neglect no preparation within their means to "make good" in the professions or businesses in which they are preparing to embark.

These impressive figures are regarded by many as a substantial response to the appeals launched in the "Go to College" movement last year. Incidentally, too, they show that the faculty members of the high school have stimulated the thirst for knowledge and impressed the value of thorough preparation. A few of the graduates are winners of scholarships but most of those who have gone on to continue their educational preparations are being sent at the expense of their parents, who are realizing in greater numbers than ever before that knowledge is power, and that without it their children will be handicapped in their competition with others for the honors and emoluments of life.

Here is an almost complete list of the educational plans and movements of the class of '22:

William Sublett, Bill, Gibson, Dick Martin and Robert Moore have gone to University of Virginia.
Bedford Alvis Washington and Lee Stuart Wheatley Hampden Sidney Reginald Adams, Virginia Military Institute.
Frances Boisseau Josie Tuck and Elizabeth Heath, William and Mary.
Anne Harrison Hollins College.
Jane Riddle and Tavenner Hazelwood Sweet Briar College.
Latinda Clement, Frances Clark Barbara Schwarz, Bertha McCollum and Marian Travis, Harrisonburg Normal.
Lucile Walton Wilma Williams Margaret to Townes Ethel Yeatts and Florence Booth, Farmville Normal.
Frances Caldwell, Marion College.
Bernie Berman, Goucher College, Baltimore.
Muriel Perry and Ruth Carter, Radford Normal.
Martina Nelson Averett College.
Lillian Williams, North Carolina College for women, Greensboro.

This number of graduates pursuing studies in higher institutions is without doubt the largest number from any one class and the largest percentage of a graduating class to continue study elsewhere in the history of the high school.

Beginning at noon tomorrow, the Dempsey-Carpenter Boxing Match will be shown for the first time in Danville at the Majestic. This picture is sponsored by Tex Rickard, promoter of the big battle, and is so complete in every detail that it is an illustrated history of the greatest glove contest in the history of the ring.

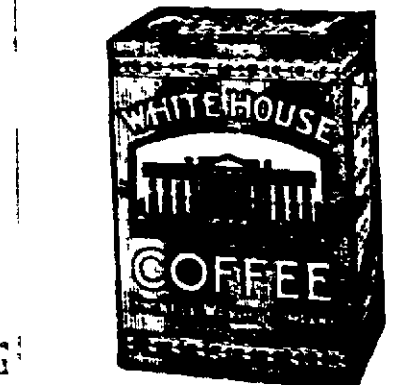

But the film does something more than merely show the battle. It brings on the screen persons connected with the match. Rickard, Dempsey and the Dempsey camp followers show the men in training, follows them from day to day to the arena, they stepped into the big arena at Boyles, Acres, in New Jersey, and the multitude stood up to hail them.

With twenty cameras recording the battle close up there is no possible dispute now the fight was fought and won. Every incident is made plain, even the blow in the second round that staggered Dempsey.

There are those who insist that if the Frenchman had only gone forward at that time, followed up his advantage, there would have been a new champion. The picture at the Majestic will settle any little argument in that direction.

It can be said that the Frenchman was gone with the core. He never quit. He fought to the finish. Just how great Dempsey is may be judged by the scenes in this battle, for his every action in the ring, his footwork, feinting, fast-fishing for forearms and his deadly rabbit blow are all recorded. It is one of the most unusual striking films ever shown on the screen, dramatic, replete with action and spectacular. The picture takes just one hour to run and starts every hour on the half hour. Big crowds attended its showing in Richmond, Norfolk and Roanoke. The Majestic management expects to handle its biggest business of the season.

Lady Mountbatten Discusses Men, Husband Talks On Women

BABE RUTH EXPLAINS BASEBALL TO LORD AND LADY MOUNTBATTEN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Being a two-minute symposium with Lord and Lady Mountbatten, honeymooning in the United States upon American men and women who have married into English families.

Interviewers visitors and people upon various other important missions have kept the youthful lord and his lady occupied. Lord Mountbatten, clad in a somewhat sketchily skirted baroque made his observations between the bath tub and the telephone which was jangling with irritating persistence. Enveloped in a filmy negligee Lady Mountbatten the former Edwina Ashley 20 lovely and England's richest heiress, pinned her blond hair into place.

Lady Mountbatten: American men? All that I ever knew were polite and very splendid men. Of course not being married to one, I couldn't tell just how generous they were.

Lord Mountbatten: American women? All that I have ever known I have admired tremendously. Of course American women married to Englishmen haven't shown that penchant for business that women over here in the United States have. But then, you know, that sort of thing doesn't go down with an Englishman very well. Somebody has got to keep the house.

Lady Mountbatten: American men, now they seem to be better business men than Englishmen. At any rate they seem to work at it much harder. Englishmen concentrate hard while they work, but they find time for culture and recreation, too.

Your American man wants to work all the time. Still he does go in for sports. Have you met Babe Ruth?

Lord Mountbatten: And your American woman—she goes in for sports, too, but I don't know but that England has some better sportswomen. English girls, you know, are tremendously fond of the outdoors.

Lady Mountbatten: And I rather think that Englishmen are better sportsmen. But have you met Babe Ruth? I had a long talk with him. I think he's delightful.

Lord Mountbatten: Excuse me while I answer that telephone.

Lord Mountbatten: And me, please, for I was due at a luncheon 15 minutes ago.

Odd Sleeves and Belts, Bertha Collars

The actual changes in the fashionable silhouette are not startling. Paris fashions have radical alterations. All the more reason, then, for the insistence this season on trimming, materials, detail of every kind.

One of these minor newness is the bertha collar. Another is the high collar—seen on the pacquette blouse and day-time dress—which is stiffly frilled or bound to give the proper height and flare.

Another is the continued extravagance of the collar and the importance of the waistline and of belts.

The newest belt, by the way, is the "booster" belt—rolls of the material he that as one flatter twisted together to make a heavy cord about one's waist.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—(By The Associated Press.) The strike of the workers at Bordeaux ended tonight. The dock workers and coal handlers at Marseilles however have tentatively voted in favor of a sympathetic strike movement in that port.

Roanoke Alumni Banquet Here

At a meeting of the alumni of Roanoke College, Salem, Va., last night at Hotel Burton F. L. Pickle was named chairman of the committee in charge of this district in the campaign now being waged to raise $500,000 endowment for the college. The business session was preceded by a banquet, which by no means detracted from the success of the occasion, for there was no doubt about the success of the meeting as the alumni present evinced a splendid interest in the progress and welfare of the alma mater.

In the first place the alumni present were inspired by a really remarkable address by Chas. J. Smith, president of Roanoke College who told of the history of the institution through 50 years, its ideals and aspirations. The speaker said that Roanoke College hoped always to remain a small college and to fill the need of such a school in the best possible manner. In order to do this he emphasized that it was necessary that all financial resources be lifted from executive shoulders. And to this end an educational itinerary had been planned throughout the country in order to reach alumni of the college. The country had been divided into 35 districts, each division having a central point, in which a meeting had been planned where alumni of that particular district might meet and be told of the situation at the college. Danville is the central point in one of the alma mater districts and for this reason one of the meetings was held last night in this city.

Dr. Smith told of the success that he had been having in the various districts that he had already attended. He said that the alumni of the college had locally responded to the needs of the situation. No appeal for money had been made, facts concerning the college had been set forth and this had proved sufficient to move former students of the college to give. He said that he had been able to help fix upon a firm foundation and to perpetuate the college.

Already said the speaker a large part of the proposed foundation had been raised and that although his itinerary was hardly half over the end was in sight.

Among the other speakers last night were N. E. Clement, lawyer, of Chatham, T. L. Keister, of Salem, Frank Cadwalder, of Danville, the Rev. Thos. G. Faulkner, of Chatham and W. R. West of Patrick.

FIRST SEIZURE OF BOOZE ON BOARD VESSELS

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Thomas H. Roosevelt, general manager of the United States lines, operating passenger vessels of the United States Shipping Board, today requested prohibition officials to begin removing tomorrow all alcoholic beverages on shipping board vessels in his company's service now in this port.

The first seizure in this district of liquor aboard a United States Shipping Board vessel under attorney General Duggan's dry ruling was made today by agents who visited the freighter Winona, arrived from Smyrna after evacuating refugees from the ruined city.

Four cases of whiskey and a number of loose bottles were taken from the Winona's hold.

U. D. C. Delegates To Convention

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Oct. 9.—Delegates were arriving here tonight for the opening session of the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Virginia Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, which convenes tomorrow morning. The convention will remain in session five days.

A light over the proposed enlargement of Lee Chapel at Lexington appeared imminent tonight when the view of some of the delegations in public statement became known. Sentiment seems to be about equally divided and a close fight is forecast when the matter is brought up in the convention.

The movement to enlarge the chapel, which was started by President Henry Lewis Smith and the board of trustees of the Washington and Lee University. The university officials claim that more space is needed in the chapel for the accommodation of students at the university. The proposed improvements will cost approximately $100,000. Probably the most active opponent of the plan is Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, former President of Virginia Chapter, Mrs. Randolph, in a public statement, declares the remodeling of the chapel would be "a desecration of the South's most sacred shrine." It is understood that Mrs. Randolph will lead the fight against the plan of President Smith and his board and will appeal to the sentiment of the convention.

Mrs. Randolph said tonight that the $100,000 if raised by the chapter, should be spent in aiding the widows and orphans of Confederate soldiers instead of enlarging the chapel in the Lee Mausoleum at Lexington.

BEAUTIFUL HOME WEDDING

On Wednesday afternoon Oct. 4th at three o'clock the home of W. J. Johnson, at "White Falls," was the scene of a beautiful home wedding where his youngest daughter, Miss Evelyn Johnson, became the bride of Carson Finch.

The reception hall and parlor were very tastefully decorated with golden rods and ferns. A few friends and relatives were ushered in by Messrs W. P. Johnson and Dillard Finch. Special music was most beautifully rendered by Miss Laura Stone, there to those lovely strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March the bride entered on the arm of the groom. The very impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Grizzard, pastor of both the bride and groom's churches. Mr. and Mrs. Finch caught the afternoon train for Washington and other northern points. They will be at home near Java, Va., after Nov. 1st. Their host of friends wish them a life of great success and happiness.

DESTRUCTION OF GRAIN

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 8.—Rapid breeding of the grain moth during the recent drought resulted in the loss of half a million dollars in wheat in this state, entomologists declared here today at the conclusion of a state survey.

Big Crime List Laid At Door of Frank Allers

His Sister-in-Law Accuses
Him of Carlin and Crook
Stores Hold-Up—Two Liquor Thefts Are Credited to Him.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 10.—Frank L. Allers' life for the last two years has been a record of crime. He is accused of robbing the Carlin and Crook stores in Baltimore, of holding up the Baltimore and Annapolis express, and of robbing the Baltimore and Annapolis express.

Allers is the confessed member of the bandit gang that killed and robbed William B. Norris on August 18. He is the informer who has sent his wife, Mrs. Allers, to the penitentiary for life, and will be the principal witness in the trial of Walter Socolow at Towson on Wednesday.

According to his sister-in-law—It was Frank L. Allers and his gang who held up John J. Carlin on June 27, 1921, in broad daylight, robbed him of $3,700, and escaped in the roadster of T. L. Keating, manager of Carlin's Park.

Accused of Cashiers' Hold-Ups—Allers planned and executed the three hold-ups of the J. W. Crook chain of stores and of Charles P. Crook, collector for the tobacco tax, with less than two months a total of $9,620.

He was the man who attacked a woman several months ago, trying to grab a parcel, and was charged with kidnapping and escaping without the money when she screamed and fought him.

It was Allers who held up a building association official in Southwest Baltimore one night last fall, getting away with an amount of funds the official was taking home.

Says He Led Liquor Raid—Allers led the big liquor raid upon the home of the late J. H. Wheelwright, more than a year ago.

He participated in the liquor raid upon the home of Thomas Hooper, of Cockeysville, for which Hart, Smith, Carey and Socolow have been indicted.

He swindled banks in at least six places by means of a "check" operation under assumed names.

He actually had a hand in the Bernstein jewelry robbery.

His sister-in-law's story pictures him as an arch-criminal, a "gentleman crook" living not only by his wits but by violence. A leader of a hold up gang which committed one spectacular crime after another and got away each time without leaving a trace.

For the help he gave the state in the Norris case, Allers was granted immunity in that and in the Bernstein jewelry robbery. He was under indictment in the latter case. It is understood that he was not granted immunity for any other crimes, because the authorities did not know of any other crimes he might have committed.

Conviction on any of the charges his sister-in-law has named would mean a term in the penitentiary.

Pittsburgh's Fog May Go

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—Pittsburgh's fog problem may be solved this winter by local scientists.

Lubrication of the Monongahela river is the keynote of an idea which is being developed at the Mellon Institute. Dr. H. B. Miller, director of the school of mines of the University of Pittsburgh, and officials of the war department and weather bureau are co-operating.

The Monongahela, according to scientists, is the chief villain in Pittsburgh's fog troubles. The river, which is warmer than the air sweeping through the valley, gives up a portion of its water, which rises as vapor and quickly cools.

A film of oil prevents this union, but the problem for the investigators at Mellon Institute was to concoct a mixture that could be used at a reasonable expense.

A satisfactory spray has been discovered, Dean Miller has announced. In preliminary tests this spray covered small areas of water, and was only 1-25th as thick as the ordinary oil film which is used to destroy mosquitoes.

The first experiment on the Monongahela will be made within a few days. The bombardment will be from a tug. Specially constructed nozzles will be used to spray an area of about one mile. Subsequent activities will depend upon the outcome of that test.

The Danville W. C. T. U. will hold an important meeting Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the parlor of Mount Vernon church.

Mitchell for the purpose of establishing a boundary line between the property in Danville of the principals in the action. Numerous witnesses had been summoned and the case promised to last most of the day.

R. H. KREIS NOW OUT OF DANGER

Good Morning Judge!

Pete Thompson, colored, apparently in the neighborhood of fifty years, was given a hearing in the police court this morning for an alleged assault on his 17-year-old wife, but Pete was deaf and had a hard time in going through the proceedings. The child wife of Pete appeared in court with her arm in a sling and with her husband sitting in the dock she testified that her husband and wife were without provocation struck her with an iron breaking one of her fingers. By signs the negro was informed that the court was ready for a statement from him. He said that his wife cursed him and that he hauled back and slapped her down. But the court pondered a minute. Pete was deaf and had just testified that his wife cursed him. By motions and signs Pete was finally made to understand to reply to the question of how he knew his wife cursed him. He said that he could understand every word his wife said by the movement of her lips and he knew she cursed him. This settled the argument for the present.

"What did you want to marry an old man like that for?" the mayor asked the young negro. "He told me he was rich and I thought he was," came the reply. "Married him for his money, then?" "I married him for love a little, too," shyly replied the negro, adding "but he don't love me."

She said she and Pete had been married two years and that this was their first trouble, stating that she was made to believe that Pete had barrels of money and was a fortune teller. Owing to the fact that the negro is a minor, the case was sent to the juvenile court and she will have her freedom in the meantime.

Other cases disposed of this morning follow:

Leonard Smith, at whose house on lower Main street, something over a gallon of whiskey was found, was fined $50 and costs and given 30 days in jail.

Minnie Lee fined $10 and costs for violating Mapp act.

Hartley Sheek fined $10 and costs for violating the Mapp act.

A like fine was imposed on Charles O'Brien for a similar offense.

William Turner, colored, fined $20 and costs for speeding.

Danville Auction Houses Have Best Sales Of Season

The tobacco sales on the auction floors today are heavier than any time since last Tuesday when the season began. Estimates of the quantity of leaf are between 600,000 to 750,000 pounds. The largest warehouses had first sales today and Acres was filled with tobacco, the sale there probably lasting until about 5 o'clock. John Bustard, supervisor of sales for the Danville Tobacco association thought that the sales would get round although it was admitted they would last until late in the afternoon.

Had it not been for the violence of the rain which fell during Sunday and Monday, the Danville tobacco sale would have been a million pound sale of tobacco at the auction houses.

The delivery houses of the Co-operative association are reported well patronized the growers aligned with the pool, bringing in their tobacco more leisurely.

The sales here promise to be heavy throughout the week as many farmers will attend the market and the fair at the same time.

New Record For Tobacco Sales Made In Wilson

WILSON, N. C., Oct. 9.—The Wilson market this season has surpassed all previous records in heavy movement of the weed. For each minute the sales have run since the market opened, there has been sold 1,567 pounds of tobacco, representing an output of $426.85 per minute.

The banner year for this market was 1920. That year 11,575,550 pounds was sold, at an average price of $22.44 per hundred pounds. Of the 1921 crop, 11,569,224 pounds was sold, for an average of $26.36. This year already 22,057,974 pounds already have been sold, at an average price of $22.44 per hundred pounds.

For the week ending October 5, there was 2,401,038 pounds, for an average of $22.91 per hundred. During the same period last year, there was sold 2,711,326 pounds, at an average of $22.55, showing an increase of 36 cents per hundred this year. These figures would indicate that there is no great difference in the price of tobacco this year as compared with 1921, if the quality is the same.

White Woman Is Real Explorer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—The first white woman to venture among the "Cunana" tribesmen of Abyssinia and Ethiopia.

And Mme. Sonia de Vries d'Alberg, intrepid Hollandian who accompanied an Italian expedition in the heart of a little traversed land of the East African coast, brings back word to the white man that he can learn much in civility from his savage brothers.

"If white women were treated one-half as well as are the native women of the Cunana, savage and primitive though they may be, we would hear of fewer deaths," comments the intrepid explorer. "In no land I have visited, and I have seen most of them, have I ever found similar courtesy and civility to women. Fairness seems to be their motto, and if white men would be fair to their women a great deal of the trouble would end."

Mme. d'Alberg accompanied the Capt. Conte Manari expedition and the record of five giant hippopotami, four crocodiles and three leopards in a day's hunting is credited to her.

Each player of the Giants will receive approximately $4,121.8 and each player of the Yankees $2,967.11.

AIR MAIL CARRIES WOMAN FROM FRISCO TO NEW YORK

MINEOLA, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Miss Liljan Gathin, an organizer of the National Association of Gold Star Mothers, arrived at Curtiss Field in an United States postal service De Havilland airplane at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon, thus completing her transcontinental flight which began at San Francisco.

Her flight was made under the auspices of Assistant Postmaster General Paul Henderson, to express the air mail service's endorsement of the movement of nationalizing the remembrance of aviators who died in service. The entire trip was made in postal planes, although none of them carried mail when Miss Gathin was a passenger.

The regular air mail route across the continent was followed and stops were made at Reno, Nev., Salt Lake City, Utah, Rock Springs and Cheyenne, Wyo., North Platte, Neb., Iowa City, Iowa, Chicago, Cleveland and Bellefonte, Pa.

When Miss Gathin left Chicago at 6:21 o'clock this morning she carried a letter from Mayor Thompson of Chicago to Mayor Hylan of New York. She said she is the first woman to make the transcontinental flight and that the trip gave her a "good rest."

Her trip was made to arouse interest in the National Association of Aviation Gold Star Mothers, and she will attempt to bring about the observation of March 2, 1923, as national aviation day in memory of ailerons.

Here's the Way To Dope Out Girls As Old Man Euclid Would Do It

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Miss Annie Guthrie, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., has divided all girls into geometrical symbols and is delivering lectures before a blackboard to all the girls in the institution.

"The straight line," she said, "represents a girl who is one-sided. She has two sharp points and is not the pleasantest girl to meet. And now we have the V girl. She is a little better than the straight line girl, for she too has her sharp points and unless you approach her laterally, you will feel them."

"The triangle girl has a better chance than the V girl, for she has three sides to her character. She is easier to entertain and she has more interests than the straight line girl or the V girl. Now, the square girl is four-sided."

"But the best of all," concludes the teacher, "is the perfect circle girl. Here we have the full-blown rose of charm. The circle girl is perfect. She is always at her ease. Grace and poise are hers. She has curves and curves are everything."

Over Two Inches Of Rain Fell Here Monday

The rainfall in Danville from 8 a. m. Monday until 8 a. m. this morning was 2 inches and 42-100ths, according to the measurement in the rain gauge maintained by H. M. Watkins.

From 8 a. m. Sunday until the same hour Monday the precipitation was 47-100ths.

The rain yesterday was unusual for this section and yesterday evening the downpour was one of the heaviest recorded for some time. The sewers being unable to carry off the accumulation of water and washouts in various streets being reported. On Watson street a large section of the dirt street fell away and mud was washed ankle-deep over the sidewalks.

Some idea of the intensity of yesterday's rainfall may be gathered from the fact that during the entire month of September, which was unusually dry the total rainfall in Danville was 1 inch 25-100ths according to the official measurement. More rain fell here yesterday than during the entire thirty-day period of September.

Aerial "White Way" To Pacific Proposed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The Post Office Department has established a laboratory for night flying experiments at Chicago, preparatory to establishing a night flying mail service from New York to the Pacific Coast. The results of the experiments will be installed at New York and other points, resulting in the establishment of a brilliantly illuminated "white way" from New York to San Francisco.

Assistant Postmaster General Paul B. Henderson of the aerial branch of the postal service hopes to have the clear record that the course seen with New York of Chicago in the economic will be in the other city by the following morning.

The Maywood Field Chicago, station of the air mail will soon have lighting equipments for the first time. Workmen are now installing light posts to encircle the field. The plans for illumination also include flood lights around all the field buildings to throw them into daylight perspective for the flyer.

Two index lights are also under construction and these will be bordered with lights. At each end of these two runways will be placed strong searchlights, the pilot land on with his back to the glare.

Dudding Still Camps On Trail Of Gov. Trinkle

(By GEORGE H. MANNING)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—That mens pants and overalls are being manufactured with convict labor at the Virginia state prison at Richmond and being sent out with the union label on them, and hearing the name of the contracting firm at Fort Worth, Texas, is alleged in a letter from Richmond received today by Dr. E. E. Dudding, president of the Prisoners Relief Society.

So far as the tags being affixed to the overalls by the convicts at the Virginia Penitentiary were included in the letter. The tags bear the words "Miller Mfg. Co., Ft. Worth Texas, Union Made."

Dudding at once called the attention of the department of justice and President Gamper of the American Federation of Labor to the matter. He pointed out that the practice was an injustice on convict labor and violates the law providing that prison made goods shall be so branded.

Dudding's letter to the department of justice reads as follows:

"I am informed that down at the Virginia state prison at Richmond they make mens pants and overalls and send them out branded as Union made as per the enclosed tag."

"I understand there is a federal law prohibiting sending out prison made goods unless they are branded 'prison made.' I think it is a serious matter that goods should be labeled as union made when they are not."

"I was told this morning that the government of Virginia said the prison would know of this and approve of it. These labels are intended to show that the goods are made in Fort Worth, Texas by Miller Mfg. Co., where they are made in the Virginia state prison. It looks like a deception as the people who buy the goods do not know the conditions under which they are made. The tags were sent to me by mail and the letter that came with them stated that the tags were being put on the pants in the Virginia penitentiary. The Prisoners Relief Society would like the department of justice to look into the matter to learn the truth of the situation and take such action as is proper."

The Miller Mfg. Co. is apparently contracting for manufacture of the goods by convict labor at the Virginia penitentiary and representing it to the public as the product of union labor.

Cancellation Of Allied Debts Is Opposed By Burton

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—A strong declaration was made today by Representative Theodore E. Burton, Republican, Ohio, a member of the allied debt commission, against cancellation of the debts of the European countries to the United States. His statement to this effect made unanimous the position on the question of all allied debts, of the inter-parliamentary union conference at Vienna, a number of senators who with Representative Burton toured Europe and conferred with leading statesmen and publicists having previously declared that the allied debts should not be remitted. Representative Burton conferred with President Harding today and after campaigning in Ohio will return for the meeting late this month of the allied debt commission with Great Britain's financial representatives.

There are many reasons why the allied debts should not be canceled," said Representative Burton. "First they are binding obligations, a national debt, and their cancellation would throw doubt on national credit which is an all important part of all commercial and industrial relations."

Second, these loans were not made from an abounding revenue, but were obtained by borrowings from our people with no small difficulty and with a great deal of sacrifice. There was no thought at the time that they would not be repaid and indeed the law under which our people took our bonds provided for their expressing in kind.

Third, the United States is sincerely interested in world peace. If these debts were cancelled it would lead to an expansion of the military and naval establishments of other countries, and thereby bringing a threat of war and all the waste it entails.

Fourth, proportionately, the increase in the debt of the United States as a result of the war is greater than that of the borrower. The increase in taxation also is proportionately greater.

While we recognize the immensity of the sacrifices made by the allies during the war, their danger was more imminent and we have gained no territory and are not expecting any large indemnities. The feeling of broadness is that these debts ought to be paid."

Mr. Burton also declared against any further national loans abroad, adding that private credits for American material and supplies should be arranged, but that the United States treasury should not be called upon again to aid any foreign country, except possibly for human relief.

He did not appear to be impressed by the League of Nations, several of whose meetings he attended at Geneva.

"It seemed like a debating society," he said. "The statements opposing cancellation of the allied debts to the United States were made last Saturday by Senator McKinley of Illinois and Spencer of Missouri, Republican, and Harris, Democrat, Georgia, upon their return here from Europe. The three agreed also that, although there was much suffering and economic distress in Europe, the American government should make no more loans there."

HUSBAND HELD FOR WIFE MURDER

LYNCHBURG, Va., Oct. 9.—Charged with the murder of his wife A. B. Critzer, 32, a sheet metal worker, was lodged in jail here tonight by Magistrate D. B. Clay, following an inquest late this afternoon.

The woman was shot in the side and died twenty minutes later. The shooting occurred at the Critzer home in Bedford County near here.

At the inquest Critzer claimed his wife committed suicide and his statement was corroborated by one witness, a bachelor, who lived with the family. According to Justice Clay, however, statements evidence sufficient to hold Critzer.

According to the story told by Critzer he was in the yard chopping wood when his wife rushed from house with the pistol in her hand, saying she had shot herself. He said he called a physician and that she died in a few minutes. Justice Clay said he had evidence that Critzer was in the room with his wife when the shooting occurred.

COAL SHIPMENT IN NEW ENGLAND MEREASE

BY EDSON B. SMITH.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—To date coal shipments have come into New England at a rate which few expected thirty days ago. Ample coal is arriving for commercial purposes as well as domestic heating. It is recognized, however, that the coal situation is directly dependent on the ability of the railroads to continue the pace set. Heavy snows, it is feared, will mean fuel shortage before the winter is over.

Some congestion of freight traffic is considered inevitable here within the next few weeks but at the moment there is every reason for manufacturing encouragement. The cotton mills are experiencing decided improvement both in orders received and in the trend of prices. The woolen mills are generally active.

GRAPE GROWERS' LOSSES WILL EXCEED $7,000,000

BY LYNN C. SIMPSON.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—Officials of the California Grape Growers' Association state that the loss to growers, chiefly growing out of the freight car shortage, will exceed $7,000,000. Prices are high and great quantities of grapes are on the market, but there are not cars enough to haul them.

Railroad men claim that Eastern roads, busily engaged in hauling coal refuse to return refrigerator cars to Western lines. It was asserted today that about 75 per cent of the Southern Pacific fruit cars are idle on sidings in the East and Middle West while California fruit is rotting in the orchards and vineyards.

DOES MOTHER KNOW OWN CHILD? JERSEY LEGAL BATTLE TO DECIDE

MRS. EDWARD RICH LOOKING WISTFULLY AT DOROTHY HELEN IN THE ARMS OF CITY POOR-STER GEORGE E. MURRAY TO THE LEFT: CLOSE-UP OF THE DISOWNED BABY.

BY JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIT.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 10.—Baby Dorothy Helen Rich has been disowned.

But the cry mother disowning her is making tiny clothes for her and is going daily to cuddle and nourish her on to strength and beauty.

The situation has grown out of a case which has stumped New Jersey officials, scientists and motherhood.

On August 12 Mrs. Edward Rich, living here, gave birth to a child which she believed to be a son and which was given the name Edward, Jr.

Six days later a nurse informed Mrs. Rich that her baby was not a boy but a girl.

Now authorities of the hospital where the baby was born are maintaining that Mrs. Rich is suffering merely from a self-imposed delusion that the baby born to her was a boy. On the other hand attorneys engaged by the parents are endeavoring to prove that a son was born to Mrs. Rich but that something befell the child and that a girl was substituted.

In the meantime something bigger than mere legal wranglings, bigger even than the love of one mother for her particular baby, has manifested itself.

Dorothy Helen at birth weighed barely three and a half pounds. Mother love fought for her and so she clung to the tiny thread of life.

When the bomb exploded and Dorothy Helen's parentage fell into dispute, love persisted. Denied by legal technicians the privilege of taking the baby into her own home, Mrs. Rich goes daily to cuddle and nourish it at the Mothers Institute where it is being kept.

It was a dramatic moment when Mrs. Rich refused to receive the baby from City Poormaster George E. Murray.

"It isn't that I don't want her," she sobbed. "For six days I thought she was my very own baby. But how can I accept her now until I'm sure? If they can prove she is my baby no one will be happier than I. But if she isn't then I can't bear to think of her. I mean I can't bear to think of her being brought up in a place where she will be a burden to someone."

Some congestion of freight traffic is considered inevitable here within the next few weeks but at the moment there is every reason for manufacturing encouragement. The cotton mills are experiencing decided improvement both in orders received and in the trend of prices. The woolen mills are generally active.

SUPREME COURT DISPOSES OF ALL MOTIONS FOR REHEARING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Although no opinions were delivered by the Supreme Court today, it cleared its dock of all motions for rehearing which had accumulated during the summer recess and advanced for argument the Pennsylvania Anthracite and the Minnesota iron tax, the New York Telephone and a number of other important cases, besides issuing orders in other cases.

By denying rehearings in the case decided during the closing days last term, the court made final its decisions in such important litigation as the Southern Pacific, the Colorado Coal, the Emergency Fleet Corporation, Basell and the Laramie River irrigation object cases, the latter of vital importance as laying down a governmental policy to be observed in the diversion of water for irrigation purposes from interstate streams.

Several of these cases had been pending of the courts for many years. The famous Colorado case resulted in the Supreme Court declaring that labor unions were sueable and were liable in prosecution under the Sherman and trust law. In applying the evidence in the case, however, the Supreme Court reversed the lower federal courts and held that the United Mine Workers of America District number 21, the labor leaders and others involved in the strike, which resulted in the destruction of property, were not liable for treble damages under the Sherman law because not actuated by an intent to restrain or monopolize interstate commerce. The coal companies sought unsuccessfully to have that feature of the decision reviewed, contending that the prime object of the strike was to prevent the interstate shipment of coal.

After the decision of the court last June, ordering the Southern Pacific Company to divorce itself from ownership or control over the Central Pacific Railroad, a number of petitions were presented to Congress from commercial and other organizations, discussing the principle objection of the decision. Some urged and others opposed to its enforcement, but the Supreme Court in refusing to reopen the case, brought the protracted litigation to its last stages and a mandate will now issue under which the United States District for Utah will proceed to give effect to the decision.

The government was particularly urgent for a rehearing in the Emergency Fleet Corporation cases in which the court held that the corporation as a government agency was sueable as any other corporation. The refusal of the court to reopen the cases will result, the government asserted, in a flood of suits being instituted against the corporation.

The baseball case brought by the defunct Baltimore Post and Courier club against organized baseball resulted in a decision that the club was not a legal entity.

The refusal of the court to reopen the cases will result, the government asserted, in a flood of suits being instituted against the corporation.

The baseball case brought by the defunct Baltimore Post and Courier club against organized baseball resulted in a decision that the club was not a legal entity.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Although no opinions were delivered by the Supreme Court today, it cleared its dock of all motions for rehearing which had accumulated during the summer recess and advanced for argument the Pennsylvania Anthracite and the Minnesota iron tax, the New York Telephone and a number of other important cases, besides issuing orders in other cases.

By denying rehearings in the case decided during the closing days last term, the court made final its decisions in such important litigation as the Southern Pacific, the Colorado Coal, the Emergency Fleet Corporation, Basell and the Laramie River irrigation object cases, the latter of vital importance as laying down a governmental policy to be observed in the diversion of water for irrigation purposes from interstate streams.

Several of these cases had been pending of the courts for many years. The famous Colorado case resulted in the Supreme Court declaring that labor unions were sueable and were liable in prosecution under the Sherman and trust law. In applying the evidence in the case, however, the Supreme Court reversed the lower federal courts and held that the United Mine Workers of America District number 21, the labor leaders and others involved in the strike, which resulted in the destruction of property, were not liable for treble damages under the Sherman law because not actuated by an intent to restrain or monopolize interstate commerce. The coal companies sought unsuccessfully to have that feature of the decision reviewed, contending that the prime object of the strike was to prevent the interstate shipment of coal.

After the decision of the court last June, ordering the Southern Pacific Company to divorce itself from ownership or control over the Central Pacific Railroad, a number of petitions were presented to Congress from commercial and other organizations, discussing the principle objection of the decision. Some urged and others opposed to its enforcement, but the Supreme Court in refusing to reopen the case, brought the protracted litigation to its last stages and a mandate will now issue under which the United States District for Utah will proceed to give effect to the decision.

The government was particularly urgent for a rehearing in the Emergency Fleet Corporation cases in which the court held that the corporation as a government agency was sueable as any other corporation. The refusal of the court to reopen the cases will result, the government asserted, in a flood of suits being instituted against the corporation.

Action of the larger oil companies in distributing assets through stock dividends stimulated demand for shares of other corporations known to have rich treasury holdings. Buyers in a number of cases were forced to compete for limited offerings. News continued of a favorable nature. As a result, prices receded slightly in the late afternoon.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER
(Thomson & McKinnon.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The market has shown continued firmness today. There was a good deal of realizing and a little more scattered selling as prices reached the 22 cents level, but it was really absorbed by continuation of the trade buying and broadening commission house demand which developed during the middle of last week. This buying was encouraged by reports of continued active business in the cotton goods market, and the impression, which is evidently growing stronger, that from now on Southern spot owners are likely to prove more disposed to deal with.
Reactions, of course, ought to be anticipated but the outlook for ultimately higher prices is so clear and generally recognized that we think they will attract a great deal of buying power.

Cotton Report

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A further advance of about $2.00 per bale occurred in the cotton market during today's trading. Considerable realizing and some scattered selling was encountered as prices worked up to 22.02 for December but it was absorbed on reactions of 17 or 20 points from the best, with that delivery closing at 21.85 and with the general market closing steady at a net advance of 19 to 27 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 15 to 30 points on a continuance of last week's buying movement, which was encouraged by steady Liverpool cables, reiterated reports of an active demand for cotton goods in the domestic markets, and bullish over-Sunday spot advices from the South. Old longs showed a disposition to take profit as prices approached the 22 cent level, and that was the selling for Southern account. These offerings made little impression on the market, however, until prices had worked up to 21.62 for October and 21.88 for January. The demand then seemed a taper off, somewhat as there was rather more active realizing during the afternoon, with prices showing reactions from the best of five points on October and of 13 to 17 points on later deliveries.
Reports of further showers in the Eastern belt, which were considered likely to lower the grade of open cotton, if not to slow up the movement, may have encouraged some of the mid-day buying, and there was also bullish comment on the lower temperatures in the Southwest. The factors generally mentioned as responsible for the advance, however, were bullish reports from the cotton goods trade and claims that cotton was becoming dear to buy or declines in the South. A report received here from Fall River said that sales of print cloths there up to mid-day were estimated at 102,000 pieces, with prices 1-13 to 1-14 higher.
Private cables said the advance in Liverpool was due to trade buying and calling but complained of a continued moderate business in Manchester.

CLOSING GRAIN LETTER

(Thomson & McKinnon.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Wheat: Firmness in Liverpool, together with unsettled political conditions in Europe prompted a show of firmness in the early market for wheat, but heavy receipts at Canadian markets and very little new foreign demand colored the market thereafter. Choice milling in all markets is in demand at strong premiums. Southwestern mills said to be operating at 85 per cent capacity. Completion of export sales for October loading is proceeding under the difficulties of inefficient transportation, and consequent scarcity of immediately available supplies. This lends an element of strength which is not to be ignored. Light offerings from east and west are not only a matter of faulty distribution, but also due to the tendency to withhold sales is seen, leisurely marketing by the farmer, also, in the Canadian crops, as we understand that a goodly portion of the receipts is simply a move to terminal markets for storage purposes, and not for immediate sale. a large increase over last year's in the Central European crop considerably smaller than last year. In other words, principal exporting houses have larger supplies for sale and importing countries have decreased supplies. In view of the exhausted state of European exchequers, the above condition does not suggest ultimately higher prices. Market is likely to take its daily color from the action of Liverpool prices and is not likely to show any decided tendency under existing conditions.

Coarse grains: The government estimate of yield does not confirm private estimates, therefore the market will receive no help from this source. In addition to this, cash corn is relatively scarce having just some, to 2 cents, of its premiums the last few days. Because of this, it might be good policy to realize on holdings with a view of reinstatement on a reaction. Fundamental conditions, underlying both corn and wheat, will prevent any show of weakness and will ultimately result in higher prices.

FURTHER WAGE INCREASES
STILL PROBLEM IN INDUSTRY

BY J. C. ROYLE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Expanding production schedules today are being balanced against the possible necessity of further wage increases in the deliberations of industrial executives in every section of the country.

Reports from authentic sources know plainly that there is a country-wide impetus toward expansion in nearly every basic industry. With few exceptions, mines, mills and factories are short of workers to maintain present output.

The possibility of further advances in some of the larger industrial plants is fully recognized but producers in most instances have determined to make some final effort looking toward relief from labor shortage from the committee on immigration of Congress before taking definite action to fill the gaps in their payrolls by competitive bidding.

Many manufacturers declared today that wage advances would not solve the problem as the general shortage still would exist no matter if some industries filled their immediate needs at the expense of others. Manufacturers are most unwilling to check expansion of production and are exceedingly anxious to maintain full working forces, for they realize that the man who has no job is no buyer and that demand must expand as well as production to insure real prosperity.

The shortage of labor exists in the ranks of the unskilled as well as skilled workers and applies to women as well as men. Untrained and unskilled labor at fifty cents an hour is in demand in practically every section. Women who "go out by the day" to clean, sweep, scrub and wash readily command 50 cents an hour in Eastern cities.

In this city Finnish women recently landed from the main source of supply for such work and many of these cannot speak English. Manufacturers stated emphatically today that removal of some of the immigration restrictions offered the only satisfactory solution.

Inquiries to manufacturers at widely separated sections indicated today their plans for the next three months provide for increases in output and working forces of from 5 to 20 per cent above present schedules. Automobile production probably will be maintained fairly close to the present pace until after January 1.

Steel mills of Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin count upon shoving production from 5 to 15 per cent nearer capacity. The textile plants of New England and the South are prepared to increase activities as high as forty per cent in some instances, although the general plans contemplate additions far smaller than that figure.

The metal mines would put 15 to 20 per cent larger crews at work if they could get them. The paper industry has 100 per cent capacity set as its goal this winter and this applies also to the makers of machinery, railroad equipment and electrical supplies. Shoe factories and hat factories are booked up for a period that warrants delay in expansion. There are a few industries which will curtail and in which there is no labor shortage. Several thousand cloak makers are out of work in this city.

The shortage of labor has become non-existent. At present the fuel situation is causing little concern, but the test of transportation facilities will come with the first snows.

The producers of building materials are anything but anxious to advance prices, however, much they desire to push production ahead. They face the greatest year building construction has ever known in 1923.

They have the orders on their books and many of them have a fair quantity of the goods in their yards. Projects now are ready for these materials, but producers feel that a jam will result after the turn of the building year which may tend to shoot prices to unforeseen levels and check construction disastrously.

FRANK WASHBURN DIES IN RYE, N. Y.

RYE, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Frank Sherman Washburn, noted engineer and chairman of the board of the American Cyanide Corporation, died from bronchial pneumonia.

Mr. Washburn was one of the first men in America to see the possibilities of hydro-electric power applied to the fixation of air nitrogen for the manufacture of fertilizers.

He organized the American Cyanide Corporation with factories at Niagara Falls.

As a result of his studies he was requested by the ordinance department of the United States Government, when it entered the war, to organize the Nitrate department and to construct and to operate the $50,000,000 plant at Muscle Shoals.

Mr. Washburn served as a trustee of Cornell University. He was a member of the various engineering societies.

Mr. Washburn is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Irene Russell, of Augusta, Ga., a son and daughter, and two sisters, Mrs. C. J. Swan and Mrs. G. R. Dean, both of Chicago.

HUMOR'S SOBER SIDE!

BY JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT

Christopher Morley, who runs a column on the New York Evening Post says that the best line that Don Marquis, who runs a column on the New York Tribune, ever pulled, is this:

"Publishing a book of poems is like dropping a rose leaf down the Grand Canyon and waiting for the echo." Marquis wrote the line eight years ago after he had published a book of poems. Some time later Morley published a book of poems whereupon he recalled Marquis' line and pronounced it good.

The hard labor of being funny, according to Don Marquis, whose name is pronounced as it is spelled, lies in digging up stuff that will appeal to a variety of readers. The gentle jesters in the purple dressing gown and the amber cigarette holder is going to be intrigued about that perfectly ripping allusion to the stars and Haig and Haig, when the true jesters are the one about "Spring, gentle spring."

"Wherefore," says Marquis, "at the beginning of my career as a columnist, about ten years ago, I set about creating a diversity of characters. The first of these was Hermon, representing the type of young woman who was going in for Freud and 'deep stuff.' Then there was Archie, the trained cockroach, Fothergill Finch, poet and parlor anarchist, Captain Peter Fitzurse, descended from Reginald Fitzurse who killed Thomas à Becket, Aunt Susan Huckleberry, the prudish, and the Old Sock who talks about liquor more than he drinks."

"All these, I imagine, have their following. 'Being funny is just another case of doing time at hard labor. The other day I got an idea, worked on it till 10 o'clock, threw it away, got

"Heaven help the poor stenographer, the bass looks after the good one, once remarked Josh. Was whom clerical landlords and tax collectors know more intimately as John W. Raper."

But neither heaven nor the boss is disposed to help the humorist, says Raper. He further adds that some of his best lines like, "The woman who marries a man to reform him has a steady job for life" he thought up all by himself without assistance from anybody."

If it had ever occurred to him though that there was anything hard about being funny he'd have given over his job long ago, says Raper.

"What do I know about hard labor?" he asks. Of course I do! I've served a sentence in my life.

"And I never held a political job in nation, state or municipality. So what do I know about hard labor?" I might draw on my imagination and fool some folks that I don't think I know any more about it than I do about drawing on my imagination. It is hard labor and I have no desire to come into contact with it either socially or commercially."

And besides I have formed for hard labor great contempt, based on heave! I admit, and I should not like to dignify it even by discussing it."

Whereupon Mr. Raper withdrew into a hard hat shell.

He admits though that he thinks that line about Abraham Lincoln up at 5 o'clock, worked on it, threw it away, worked on it again and finally had to use it because I needed it to fill up space. But I didn't like it even then.

"Yeh—sometimes I spend 50 hours on a column. And the fellow on the subway reads it through in seven minutes and throws it in the ash can."

"I wonder," he says to his wife, "what these funny fellows do with all their spare time."

Tomb of Herod's
Cousin Is Found

Important Discovery Is Made in Palestine by American Archeologists.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—The burial place of King Herod's cousin, Antiochus, has been found by explorers of the University Museum at Beth Shan, in Palestine, according to an announcement made yesterday at the museum by Dr. George Byron Gordon, the director. Antiochus in all probability was one of the men charged by Herod with directing the slaughter of the children in Bethlehem as narrated by St. Matthew. In the vain effort to kill the Christ Child who had been described to Herod by the Wise Men as the "King of the Jews."

No discovery made by archeologists since a start was made a century ago on the exploration of buried sites in the Near East has aroused so much interest among followers of Christianity. It is the nearest approach to a miracle so far made to the finding of contemporary records of Christ and of the events leading up to the founding of a religion that has swept the world.

Information of the discovery came to the museum from Dr. Clarence Stanley Fisher, director of excavations at Beth Shan, who has just concluded the second half of operations there. In a letter to Dr. Gordon some time ago he announced that a large stone sarcophagus was found in one of the Roman tombs at the site. On it was an inscription in Greek.

The letter was quite clear, he wrote, "but the date at the beginning and the name at the end puzzled us. We have in the camp no works of reference and so could not look up to the details. On Monday we had a visit from Pere Vincent and two of his colleagues and, of course, showed them the sarcophagus. They also could not get the meaning, but supposed as we had done that the last name was some local family name."

As soon as they returned to Jerusalem Pere Vincent looked up the name and has just sent me a letter giving the results of his search. The inscription refers to Antiochus, son of Phallion. The latter was the brother of Antipater, founder of the Herodian dynasty and father of Herod the Great. Hence the owner of our sarcophagus is the first cousin of Herod the Great.

Now the interesting part is that the father Phallion was killed in the district during a battle with Pompey, and his son, Antiochus, was supposed to have died here some time later.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 9.—(By the Associated Press)—If weather conditions are favorable, Lieutenant Walter Hinton plans to start tomorrow on the next leg of his flight in the hydroplane Sampaio Correia II, which is bound from New York to Rio Janeiro. The machine will be headed for Point-a-Pitre, Guadeloupe, approximately 300 miles distance.

The possibility of going to St. Thomas, Virgin Island was considered yesterday, but was abandoned today.

McFARLAND'S TOBACCO LETTER

Nothing unusual during the week just ended to see many patrons of the Wilson Tobacco Market with statements showing their sales of the Golden Weed averaging for the whole week from $60 to $75. One of the best lots of tobacco probably sold during the week was that sold by Messrs Hiram Walston & Charlie Snipes Jr. last Thursday. These two Wilson County boys certainly had two fine barns of tobacco on sale. The barns weighed 2,102 pounds and sold for $1,615.50, an average of $76.85 per hundred pounds. Their prices ranged from $60 to $100.

Market Stronger On The Better Grades.

The market seemed to be somewhat stronger on the better grades, but probably a shade weaker on the medium grades. The general average for the week as shown by Supervisor Johnson's report was $32.91, against $30.26 for last week. Total sales to date of the fiscal week ended Thursday, according to Johnson's Official Report, 20,657.94 pounds. Average for the season $27.24. Dollars sold for $5,465,012.71. All paid in cash. No waits, no delays, a system of accounting so perfect that regardless of how much was sold daily, within a few hours after each sale had closed for the day, it is known to the very pound how much tobacco was received and what it brought to the very cent, so that when the news went to the press it was not couched in the language of "about" and approximately. Such is the Tobacco Market of Wilson and this is the way that all the Open Markets in the State are conducted. Some of them not quite as quick as Wilson in closing their books for the day but every one of them ready and willing to give their returns for the month, under oath, to the Commissioner of Agriculture so that he may intelligently inform the people and give them under his hand the fact. We understand from the Office of the Commissioner of Agriculture, that the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association declines to furnish the Department with any statements. The intelligent reader will at once judge for himself the reason.

Error In A Recent Geography

The American Book Company has recently placed with the Public Schools a Geography of North Carolina by Messrs S. E. Underwood and H. E. Austin. The former of Raleigh, the latter, I think, of Kinston. In the supplement to said Geography, headed, "Essentials of Geography" by Messrs Bringham & McFarlane, page XII, appears this error, "Winston-Salem is the largest tobacco market in the State, Wilson and Greenville ranking as second and third." I do not know where these gentlemen got their information, but they are mistaken for Wilson, N. C. is not only the largest tobacco in the State but the largest tobacco market in the world. So if the children of North Carolina want to be taught the facts, in the instance, it would be advisable for every teacher using said Geography to correct this paragraph. If this article comes to the notice of the authors, I am sure they will gladly wish it done. McFarlane, Wilson, N. C., October 9, 1922.
